Some details of the VOICE to PARLIAMENT forum, 17 March 2023

MC and forum host:

Dr. Kim O'Donnell, a Malyangapa / Barkindji woman from Western NSW, works at Flinders and Adelaide Universities researching Indigenous community health and leading change nationally through AKTION 2 (Aboriginal Kidney Care Together) program. Kim has national and international experience in education, health and governance.

Welcome to Country:

Kelli Owen, a Kurna, Narungga and Ngarrindjeri woman, with a Masters in Indigenous Languages Education, has held education leadership positions. Currently she is Coordinator of the National Indigenous Kidney Transplantation Task force (NIKTT).

Keynote speaker:

Teela Reid, a Wiradjuri and Wailwan woman, is a Harvard graduate and is First Nations Lawyer in residence at The University of Sydney Law School, while practising in criminal, civil and administrative law. She is also a key advocate for the Uluru Statement from the Heart and recently been appointed to the Federal Government's Referendum Engagement Group.

Other speakers include:

Kyam Maher, from Buandig country in the SE, is the first Indigenous Minister of Aboriginal Affairs in a SA Government where he also serves as Attorney-General.

Sally Scales, a Pitjantjatjara signatory of the Uluru Statement from the Heart, works as an artist with the APY Art Centre Collective, and in 2019 was elected Chairperson of the APY Executive Board Council.

Elijah Bravington, also a signatory of the Statement, is an Arabana man with experience in film-making, environmental management and community development.

The Uluru Statement from the Heart was signed by 220 First Nations people in 2017 after 12 regional consultations conducted with bipartisan political support. Its agenda is Voice, Treaty and Truth.
