PROGRAM TARPARI
WELLBEING DAY
"715 Deadly Unna"
*17th April, Memorial Park,
Port Pirie*

715 “Deadly Unna” is our theme for 2024.

The 715 Preventative Health Assessment (also known as an Aboriginal Health Check) provides the opportunity for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to have their health assessed to identify risk factors for chronic illness allowing potential prevention measures to be put in place. We will be launching our amazing 715 shirts designed by talented artist Judy Crosby Woods and printed by We Create Print Deliver. The 715 Health Incentive shirts were generously funded by Foundation for Rural and Regional Renewal - FRRR.

Culture

Nukunu

Wood carving has always been a part of Aboriginal culture. Aboriginal people carved the tools they used for hunting and gathering, to build their shelters, boats for fishing and travelling, for ceremony and dance and to mark sacred sites such as the burial poles. Nukunu wood carvers will be giving carving demonstrations throughout the day.

Art Sales

Visit the art tent and meet the very talented Judy Crosby Woods. Local artists living in the Yorke and Northern region will be showcasing their amazing artworks which will also be available to purchase on the day. From painting to wood carving to weaving there is something for everyone. There will be an interact sand art display on the day. We would love you to come along and join in.

Bush Medicine

Bush Medicine has been used by Aboriginal people for thousands of years and it exists all over the country-side and even in our city settings. Native plants are used for many ailments including treating cold and flu symptoms, healing aches and wounds and soothing burns just to name a few. Local women have made medicine especially for our event and is available to purchase.

Weaving

Weaving has been part of Aboriginal culture for thousands of years. Learn how to weave with local Kelly Bray.

Children and Families

Yorke and Northern Local Health Network - Environmental Health Centre

The Environmental Health Centre (EHC) is a free service helping the community to understand the issues about lead.

Did you know....

Giving your children healthy tucker is not only important so they grow strong but helps them to learn and makes it easier for them to make good food choices as they get older. Eating healthy provides the energy and nutrients that are needed to stay healthy and help to keep blood lead levels low. It is best that children have small healthy meals and snacks throughout the day.

You can visit the EHC's tent today for a healthy snack and even make your own kite. While you are there, try out their hand washing bay and find out the best way to wash your hands. Good hand hygiene not only helps to keep blood lead levels low, but can help prevent the spread of communicable disease.
